BLACK AND TANS TO HOLD MEETING

Will Gather in State Convention at City Auditorium Thursday Night.

The fact that the only sure enough Republican party of the State met in Roanoke some time since and perfected the State organization for the purpose of representation at the Chicago convention, cuts little figure with the black and tans who are making active preparations to hold their convention in the City Auditorium next Thursday. And what is more, they believe confidently that should Roosevelt be elected, the delegates to the convention, instead of the one authorized by the Roanoke meeting, will be the one to get reserved seat checks in the Chicago Auditorium.

The Colonel's spectacular march through Pennsylvania, Massachusetts and Maryland has invested the black and tan Republican movement in this State with something more than a passing interest. Good politicians see in it a real agency for the undoing of the Roosevelt faction. The movement, it is believed, would be slow to take credentials to a delegation pledged to Taft.

Dixon May Speak.
J. R. Pollard, of this city, one of the leading spirits in the black and tan movement, stated yesterday that it is probable that Senator Dixon, Colonel Roosevelt's campaign manager, will address the convention at the Auditorium. Admittance to the hall will be by ticket only. Committee headquarters are at Miller's Hotel, Second and Leigh Streets, and tickets can be obtained there upon application.

Preliminary plans for Thursday's convention were perfected at a meeting in Norfolk last Tuesday. The insurgent leaders announce their intention to refashion anew the Republican party in Virginia, and to elect a new slate of delegates to the Chicago meeting. The convention will select a State chairman, four delegates-at-large, four alternates-at-large, and two electors-at-large. The railroads of the State have dignified the occasion by conceding special excursion rates for the meeting, and the four walls of the Auditorium will resound Thursday night with the oratory of many speakers. Visitors will be admitted only upon presentation of "reserved tickets," which may be procured from the committee at Miller's Hotel. Whether the Republican party will emerge from the convention in a new dun-colored garb, or whether the attempted reconstruction will end in a fizzle, the occasion promises to be a big one for the black and tans, and will be watched with interest by every Republican in Virginia.

Several new posts have been organized during the year, and the baby post at Kenbridge is contending for the next State convention. The Suffolk post, aided by the Suffolk Board of Travelers, has arranged an excellent program for entertainment of the visitors. Police Say Prisoner Can Give Names of Negroes Who Mobbed Crew.

Through clues which it is hoped will be furnished by Ulysses Stokes, colored, twenty-two years old, the police expect to trace down and arrest most of the participants in the riot last Thursday morning at Hickory and Baker Streets, when the crew of a Richmond and Henrico Railway car was mobbed by negroes.

Vigorous work on the part of the detective bureau has been in progress since the disturbance. Evidence which indicated that Stokes was one of the rioters was secured yesterday by Detectives Belton and Atkinson, and he was arrested by them last night. At the Second Police Station he was charged with being a suspicious character suspected of a felony.

Because of the fact that the police had been criticized for failure to make any arrests in the case, Captain of Detectives McMahon yesterday morning put all of his men to work.

The riot resulted from the arrest of an unidentified negro by Conductor B. N. Schreiner. It was said that he became abusive when he was carried past the corner at which he wished to alight, and when placed under arrest for his conduct it became necessary for Motorman L. Charles to aid in subduing him.

The negro was the only passenger aboard the car, and while struggling with the motorman and conductor a large crowd of negroes suddenly appeared on the scene. Schreiner and Charles were viciously assaulted and their prisoner was rescued by the mob.

When police reserves arrived they found both badly bruised and cut. None of the negroes was in sight, and since that time the search for them has been pressed.

The police believe that Stokes can furnish the names of many of the street car men's assailants.

PROGRAM IS ANNOUNCED BY UNIVERSITY COLLEGE

Commencement Exercises Begin With Baccalaureate Sermon at St. Paul's Next Sunday Night--Many Big Features This Year.

The program was announced yesterday for the commencement exercises at the University College of Medicine, which begin with the baccalaureate sermon to be preached in St. Paul's Church on May 19 at 8 o'clock by the rector, Rev. W. Russell Bowie. The exercises will extend through the following Thursday, the commencement address being delivered by Rev. George W. McDaniell, D. D., on that night at the Academy of Music.

Though the exercises, in a general way, will be similar to those of other years, the faculty and Board of Trustees have bent every effort to make them the most attractive since the foundation of the college. One feature that stands out above everything else in the eyes of every one connected with or interested in the college is the fact that the new building, fully completed and equipped, will be opened for inspection on May 22 at 6 P. M. The building will be christened most fittingly that morning at 10:30 o'clock with a meeting of the Alumni Association. During the commencement many clinics in the various departments will be held in the dispensary.

There is nothing in this year's work, perhaps, that the faculty, trustees and students of the college take more pride in than the new building, which will house every department of the school next year. It is said by many experts to be the most complete in the South, and is the result of the hardest kind of work on the part of the Building Committee. Men were sent to all the famous medical schools of the East, and the building combines the most modern and approved features of them all. The dispensary, the first department to be completed, has been in operation for several weeks.

Commencement Program.
Following is the commencement program:

May 19—Baccalaureate sermon, St. Paul's Church, Rev. W. Russell Bowie.

May 20—Commencement exercises, Virginia Hospital Training School, 5:30 P. M.; John Marshall High School auditorium.

May 21—Class exercises, auditorium of the Elks' Home, 8:15 P. M., reception by Dr. Robert C. Bryan to members of the graduating classes, faculty and board of trustees, Westmoreland Club.

May 22—Meeting of the Alumni Association at 10:30 A. M. in the new building, with papers by several members of the association, luncheon at the Hermitage Club, 1:30 P. M.; reception by the Confederate Memorial Literary Society, Confederate Museum, 3 to 5 P. M.; unveiling of tablet on new building, under the auspices of the Confederate Memorial Literary Society at which time there will be an address by Representative W. G. Brantley, of Georgia; inspection of the new building, 6 P. M.; meeting of Alumni Association and address by
